

New Jersey PACE

100% Financing for Resiliency and Clean Energy Improvements

A SPECIAL INVITATION TO

SPONSOR NJPACE TODAY

New Clean Energy & Resiliency Legislation

New Jersey is on the verge of passing amending legislation (A2579/S1510) for a game-changing financing model: Property Assessed Clean Energy (PACE). PACE will be available to finance energy retrofits and renewable energy systems, storm and flood resilient construction and water conservation on private property. Up to 100% financing is made available for approved projects, and repaid according to the terms of a special assessment registered with and collected by the municipality. PACE financing will:

- Save private property owners money on their energy, water and insurance bills
- Improve property value and community competitiveness
- Create jobs and economic development
- Conserve energy and water
- Reduce carbon pollution

The New Jersey PACE (NJPACE) Program

New Jersey PACE provides a state-wide, open market and open-platform PACE financing program. NJPACE helps commercial, industrial and institutional property owners take advantage of PACE legislation. NJPACE provides administrative services to local municipalities, matches property owners with lenders, reviews project plans provided by contractors, and assists in securing and managing PACE assessments.

NJPACE is a program of the Center for Regenerative Community Solutions (CRCS), a 501c3 nonprofit association that educates New Jersey stakeholders in understanding and implementing regenerative ecological, economic and social programs for long-term resiliency.

Beneficiaries of PACE include:

- Commercial and industrial building owners and their tenants
- Energy services and related contractors
- Building and equipment companies
- Design firms (architects, engineers, planners)
- Solar and other renewables companies
- Banks and private market investors
- Municipalities and communities
- The public at large
